

10 Accountability Principles

Adapted from Communities Against Rape and Abuse

Recognize the humanity of everyone involved

Prioritize the self-determination of the survivor

Identify a simultaneous plan for safety and support for the survivor as well as others in the community

Carefully consider the potential consequences of your strategy

Organize collectively

Make sure everyone in the accountability-seeking group is on the same page with their political analysis of violence

Be clear about what your group wants from the person doing harm in terms of accountability

Let the person doing harm know your analysis and your demands

Consider help from the person doing harms's friends, family, and people close to him or her

Prepare to be engaged in the process for the long haul

Life after Life: A Collective for De-criminalization and De-carceration lifefterlife@centre2110.org; www.centre2110.org/life-after-life/; www.facebook.com/lifefterlifecollective